Winter at Nasketucket Bay Reservation

By Eric Tripoli

For those of us lucky enough to experience all four seasons, winter tends to bring about the starkest of changes to our environment. While we humans fight the colder months with thicker jackets and hotter soup, nature has its own way of dealing with the bitter conditions that envelop New England a few months each year.

Nasketucket Bay State Reservation on Brandt Island Road in Mattapoisett offers hikers a chance to see how nature still thrives despite the cold. On Sunday, January 20, area outdoor enthusiasts were invited to take part in a hike around the reservation, led by a member of the Department of Conservation and Recreation. The expedition focused on identifying different plant species and how they react to the winter months.

"Today, we're going to talk about how to find them when they don't have their leaves," said Amy Wilmot of the DCR.

As an interpreter coordinator, Wilmot has led several hikes around the state, many at Nasketucket.

"Personally, this is one of my favorite parks," she said.

The hike kicked off with about 30 people in attendance, many from the surrounding area like Lakeville and the Cape, a mixture of enthusiasts and experts.

The hiking trail started at the bridle path, snaked through the salt marsh path to the beach, then back into the woods. Along the way, Wilmot stopped to point out different plants, such as princess pine and holly, and explained their survival traits and which animals pose predatory problems.

"I've gone on a few walks with Amy in the past and she's very knowledgeable," said Richard Stabile of Members of the ORR team check out the scoreboard, which was quite active all night. The official score for the game was 12-2 in ORR's favor, however, the scoreboard stopped keeping score at 8-2 due to the landslide victory. The win marked ORR's sixth of the season, while the Vikings haven't recorded a win yet. Photo by Felix Perez.*

Stabile has a forestry degree and works as a seasonal park guide in Quincy. The last time he was at Nasketucket was about five years ago and he was excited about what the group would discover.

"I'm pretty good with woodland botany. I'm looking to have a good time with this group of people and to learn a lot of stuff about the park," he said.

The Nasketucket Bay State Reservation offers over 200 acres of trails and shoreline for hiking and is open to the public every day.

"It's a beautiful property and we want people to know it's here," said Wilmot.

Flamingos Mysteriously Appearing

By Katy Fitzpatrick

Wintertime has finally hit the Tri-Town. There's snow on the ground, salt on the roads, sleds on the hills and flamingoes on the lawns. Three of those statements sound appropriate for the month of January, but where are these lawn flamingoes coming from? The pink plastic creatures are the Old Rochester Regional Junior High School's Red Cheerleading Squad's latest attempt at fundraising for their upcoming trip to Florida.

"I'm really excited to be going to Florida," said Nara Underhill, a 14-year-old ninth grade member of the cheerleading squad. "This is my first year doing cheerleading."

In November, the squad qualified for a trip to Florida after placing high in their regional competition. In just a few short weeks on February 8, the 12 girls will be on their way to Orlando, provided that they are able to raise the $12,000 needed to get them there.

"We've been working hard," said Underhill.

It was Underhill's mom Dawn and fellow parent Edythe Saucier-Camboia who came up with the festive idea of the Flamingo Flocking. For $25, residents in the Tri-Town can have 25 plastic lawn flamingos placed or "flocked" on a yard of their choice anonymously.

For those who do not want their lawn flocked, they can pay $20 for Flocking Insurance. If you've recently been flocked, you can pay $10 to find out who flocked you. All money raised from flocking will go directly to the squad to cover travel and accommodation expenses.

For the past few weeks, Nara and teammate Tessa Saucier-Camboia have been sneaking around at night, the prime time for flocking.

"We've been having a lot of fun," said Underhill.

In addition to the flocking, the parents of the squad have coordinated Foxwoods trips, movie nights, dances and hair-cutting fundraisers. They also have an online donation website which raised over $4,000 for the squad. So far, they've reached a little over $6,000, but they still have a long way to go before they head to Disney.

To donate to the squad directly online, visit rally.org/cheer-2-disney. For more information on flocking,

Sustainability Through Video

By Katy Fitzpatrick

There's no doubting that the environment is a hot topic in society these days, especially the issue of sustainable living. With so many communities on the brink of making environmental changes in their society, it is important to be as informed as possible, and there's no age too early to begin doing so.

school students to submit videos showcasing their views on sustainable living. All entries will be showcased at a Film Festival on April 11 at the New Bedford Whaling Museum. The winner will receive a $500 prize. $250 will be given to the winner as a cash prize and the remaining money will be donated to a charity of the winner's choice.

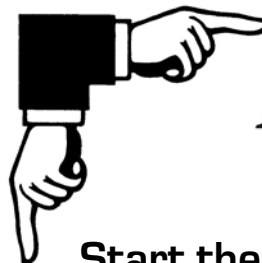

"I used to be a film student and I thought this would be a great way to celebrate local talent as well as bring some awareness to sustainability," said Jennifer Vargas, Communications Coordinator for South Coast Energy Challenge.

All entries must be a minimum of two minutes and a maximum of seven minutes. The work must be that of the students and no help from video professionals will be accepted. Students can use a variety of different video techniques including animation and live acting.

"I think that creativity for students and the arts are a really important part of growing up," said Vargas. "I hope to see some great submissions. The South Coast has some really talented people."

The contest is open to high school students in the Tri-Town, as well as Acushnet, Attleboro, Berkley, Carver, Dartmouth, Dighton, Fairhaven, Fall River, Freetown, Lakeville, Mansfield, Middleboro, New Bedford, North Attleboro, Norton, Plainville, Raynham, Rehoboth, Seekonk, Somerset, Swansea, Taunton, Wareham and Westport.

Firefighters Feed Folks With Fundraiser

By Eric Tripoli

There few things in this world better than eating and helping the community, especially when one can help the community by eating. For almost a decade this has been the formula at the Marion Fire Fighters Association spaghetti supper, which was held this year on Saturday, January 19.

"They're coming in droves," said Marion fire fighter and past Association President Scott Shippey. "Last year, we had eight inches of snow and we still sold out."

Less than an hour into the meal, most of the chairs were occupied with local residents enjoying a dinner of salad, spaghetti and meatballs, and ice cream for dessert.

Proceeds from the dinner go to benefit the Marion Fire Fighters Association, which supports the fire department in a variety of ways.

"The money goes to a lot of things. It goes to help pay for new equipment for the fire department. Sometimes it goes to association members who may be down and out," said Shippey.

There were about 10 people working at the dinner, but early on, two EMTs were called to respond to a local medical emergency.

"Even though we're here tonight, we're still taking care of the community," Shippey said.

The supper is a win-win for both the town and the fire department. It provides an opportunity for the local emergency personnel to meet face-to-face with the community and offers a way for people to directly help their local fire fighters.

"I think it's a good effort," said William MacDougall, who has served as a firefighter for over 60 years and has been a member of the Association for over 40 years.

"We've put this together a few times and people seem to really enjoy it. It's good for the Association and it's good for the community," said MacDougall.

in charge of drafting the plans for the Marion Natural History Museum repair project. The decision was made at the Board's regular meeting on Tuesday, January 22 in the Marion Town House.

According to Dawson, when the project originally went out to bid a few months ago, the winning bid did not include the costs for carpeting installation labor and materials, which made it $60,000 cheaper than the other submitted bid. The other bid was extremely higher than the original estimate given by architects from Van Voorhis.

"There was never a full-blown construction cost estimate," said Dawson. "It was a ballpark."

The project will go out for bidding once again. However, this time Van Voorhis will conduct a more comprehensive analysis of how much an appropriate bid would be with all of the construction costs taken into consideration. Selectman Jonathan Henry considered that this new analysis could raise the estimate significantly.

In a document submitted to the Board, Van Voorhis stated that his original estimate could be doubled or tripled after it is re-evaluated. Dawson assured the Board that the increase in numbers wouldn't be nearly as steep as it sounds.

"The only thing I expect to see different is labor and materials for carpeting," he said.

"Then that's an unfortunate choice of language," said Henry with regards to the Van Voorhis report.

Included in the new evaluation would be the cost to replace the lights inside of the museum, an item that was previously overlooked but could potentially be very necessary. Once the new figure is drafted, it will go to the Selectmen for review and feedback before it goes out to bid again.

"We can't stop at this point here," said Selectman Stephen Cushing.

In other news, Dawson informed the Selectmen that the Marion Music Hall lighting project is well underway. All of the exterior work is complete, with the exception of some cement pouring, which will be completed when weather permits. Inside, the circuit work needs to be finished. The new lighting fixtures will arrive sometime in February and will be installed once the circuit work is finished.

Another project that is in progress is the mold remediation process for the Town House basement. Dawson commended Conservation Commissioner Norm Hills for his help in organizing and relocating items in the basement to a new location so the mold removal can be underway in the near future.

Upon working in the basement, however, Dawson said they uncovered a water leak that is attributed to window infiltration. According to Dawson, he believed the water only leaks in when there is a Southwest wind blowing.

The Marion Board of Selectmen will meet again on Tuesday, February 5 at 7:00 pm in the Town House.

Mattapoisett Projects Trump BB Coalition Effort

Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

A $200,000 request from the Buzzards Bay Coalition to purchase 235 acres under a conservation easement was pushed away by the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen at their meeting on Tuesday evening. Brendan Annett, representing the Buzzards Bay Coalition, presented the five million dollar proposal to purchase the acreage for conservation, which includes agricultural, recreational and coastal usage and preserve land for future generations.

The 235 acres includes land in both Mattapoisett and Fairhaven; it benefits wildlife, agriculture and offers more access, by foot or bike, to Buzzards Bay for residents and visitors.

Annett said that three of the five million dollars will come from the federal government and possibly one million will come from the Bouchard Transportation Trust and other monies from state funding, but the grant funders need and require that the local towns support the massive effort. Just last week, Fairhaven agreed to put the $200,000 funding on the town warrant for their next town meeting.

Citing concerns about the funding of local projects, including the replacement of the tennis courts near Center School, Selectmen Jordan Collyer and Tyler Macallister said that the town doesn't have the money to contribute to the BBC's effort to purchase the land.

The Selectmen also cited the deterioration of the town piers and said that local projects must take precedence.

"Taking 235 acres off the tax rolls is an issue," said Collyer. "This drives up the cost of buildable lots."

Macallister and the other members sympathized with Annett and said they felt the project was worthy, but wanted to know if a lower amount would show the federal and state funders that Mattapoisett was on board and supported the project.

"Would $25,000, $30,000, or $100,000, if we could find that somewhere in town ... would that show that we supported this project?" asked Macallister.

Arnett said that this project was the number four promoted project in the United States by the United States Department of Agriculture, but that due to budget cuts, only the top two projects were funded.

Town Administrator Michael Gagne asked the Board if he could look into alternative funding, whatever that might be. The Board agreed to have Gagne research the funding alternatives within the town and discuss it at a future meeting. With a December 20, 2013 deadline, Arnett said that time was limited and that a decision to support the purchase or not needed to be forthcoming to keep the effort vital.

Animal Advice

Jay Gould, DVM

Why should I bring my "inside only" cat to the vet? The cat is 10 years old, had all of its shots when it was young and seems fine.

Perhaps your cat is, in fact, fine but a second opinion by a vet is worth the cost of admission. Just as it is recommended that we humans have annual physicals to catch problems early the same is recommended for your dog, cat, bird, ferret, etc.

Things that you may not notice about your cat are that it really is 5 pounds overweight and is prone to becoming a diabetic. Your cat may have painful dental disease which will shorten his life. Your cat may have fleas, ear mites or some other parasite problem that you may have just written off. Older cats frequently have overactive thyroid glands which may cause weight loss, heart problems, and high blood pressure. Remember that rabies shots are mandated by law for all cats and that they are only good for 1 to 3 years.

Police Chief Mary Lyons came before the Board and asked for acceptance of a new bench with a concrete foundation, which stands in front of Town Hall.

"We were looking for a way to honor Detective Lt. Paul Silveira and saw this bench at Town Hall in desperate need of repair," said Lyons.

Lyons, working with the Highway Department, removed the existing bench and installed a new one with a plaque honoring the service of Detective Lt. Silveira.

Silveria passed away on January 21, 2011 and was a revered and beloved community member. He was a mentor for those serving in the police department. Silveria was a 27-year veteran of the force who was to retire in August of 2011.

The Board voted to appoint four new members to the Council on Aging: Joan Flaherty, Claudia Richards, Judith Kennedy and Robert Walter. This brings the COA Board to a new total of 12 members.

In other business, Melody Pacheco, Assistant to the Town Administrator, said that the Board of Appeals is seeking a new associate member.

Pacheco announced that it is now open burning season, which will last until May 1, 2013. Permits from the fire department are required and size and volume criteria details can be discussed at the fire department. Certain burning restrictions apply in the Village. Pacheco recommended that residents contact the fire department for more information.

receiving and transfer station at 50 Cranberry Highway.

The land and the building are owned by Shawmut Associates, LLC, but New Bedford Waste Services operates the recycling facility, which specializes in receiving and transferring dry demolition debris and, in some cases, converts it into alternate fuels such as burnable briquettes that are shipped out-of-state. The facility does not handle food or chemical waste.

According to the proposal, the existing facility, which measures 30,000 square feet, would be expanded to 90,000 square feet. The tripling of the building area will allow for more space for the processing components, which are quite large.

"It's a really long process. It's a big expansion.

It's the biggest infrastructure upgrade since the facility was first constructed in 1997," said Greg Wirsén of Green Seal Environmental, the company that has designed the project.

"It's a system of large conveyors and sorters. The inside looks like a factory that processes waste," he said.

The entire site will be run on solar power with panels flush-mounted on the roof. Water will be brought in from Wareham. Wirsén said they are waiting for the final numbers from the Wareham Water Department and Fire Department.

While the building will be expanded, the daily amount of waste received and recycled would not increase beyond 890 tons per day.

Wirsén said they are asking for various waivers for the project, including separate waivers to pave to the limit of the property line, to use mechanized methods for cleaning the property, and to renovate and relocate the septic system.

"They all seem to make sense, but we'll see more as we go along," said Planning Board Chairman Arnold Johnson.

Wirsén also said the company issued a traffic study over two years ago which did not report any potential problems with the increase in vehicle traffic at the site.

According to Ken Motta of Field Engineering, they may have to commission a new study as the Massachusetts Department of Transportation requires that submitted traffic studies are no more than two years old.

"Trying to get this shovel-ready before the opening of 'municipal season' is very important," Wirsén said, pressing for the submittal process to being as soon as possible.

Wirsén said that they were waiting on the final storm water calculations and did not want to submit plans until he had all the paperwork in order. He has a goal of submitting for a site plan review before Valentine's Day.

"We've had the benefit of meeting a couple times with these gentlemen," said Planning Board Chairman Arnold Johnson, who was confident in Wirsén and his knowledge of the project and the process.

"This is still the conceptual stage, so there will be time later for more information and public hearings," said Johnson.

In other business, the Planning Board discussed a plan to address the use of a residential field for storage of materials by a local business.

Harry Riggle owns a field on Route 28 across the street from Shea Concrete. The business had been storing materials in the field with Riggle's permission, but the Conservation Commission issued an order of conditions for various violations of riverfront protection laws.

"We didn't know about that at the time," said Riggle. He added that they have since replanted a lot of the damaged area and moved storage of materials further away from the protected area.

Johnson said that he and the highway surveyor walked the site previous to Tuesday night's meeting. The surveyor said that he was concerned about the lack of asphalt paving at one entrance of the property. Due to traffic entering and exiting the area, part of the road bed of Route 28 is breaking away.

"We have some concerns there and based on the amount of square footage up there, it qualifies for a site plan review," said Johnson, who suggested that members of the Planning Board examine the site further once the weather gets warmer.

Riggle did install a gate across the entrance and

ZBA Approves Jane Lane Cell Tower

Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals

By Eric Tripoli

After a lengthy application process that began in the spring of 2012, the Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals approved a proposal to construct a cell phone tower off of Jane Lane and Route 6.

Representatives for Industrial Tower & Wireless gave an in-depth presentation detailing the plan, which they have been promoting for months.

"The area that we're looking to cover with this facility is Route 6 and the surrounding community. Right now there's a deficit of coverage for all the major wireless carriers. We're looking to fill in that coverage gap with this proposed facility," said company engineer Kevin Delaney.

The company had originally put forth the idea last year, seeking a special permit from the Mattapoisett Planning Board. After months of public hearings, however, it was determined by Town Counsel that since the proposed location of the tower was in a residential area, rather than the designated corridor bordering I-195, the company must instead get a variance authorized by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The 145-foot tower would be located in the wooded area off of Jane Lane, behind the cranberry bog near Turk's Seafood Restaurant. It would help improve mobile phone and emergency services communications around town.

Attorney Jeffrey Angley, who spoke on behalf of the company, said that they were seeking two variances: one for the location itself and one because the tower exceeds the town's maximum structure height of 35 feet for residential areas.

Coverage will not continue down to the edge of the waterfront due to the drop in elevation. Service should improve for much of the Village, but the Point Connett section of town will not see signal enhancement.

"It's shadowed and the coverage doesn't make it down there. The only way to get coverage down there would be to build a taller tower," said Delaney. He said a tower closer to 200 feet in height would help improve signal strength in those areas but would not meet town setback laws.

A 12-foot wide gravel driveway with underground utilities leading to the site would be installed. A chain-link fence would surround the entire facility, which measures about 100 feet by 100 feet.

"The site would be fully wooded and we're only clearing around our leased area," said engineer Richard Voci.

Individual mobile phone carriers will be responsible for supplying their own shelters and back-up batteries or generators in the event of electricity loss.

Choosing the proposed location did not come lightly, as the company had to create a plan that was in compliance with the zoning bylaws, the Wetlands Protection Act and the Telecommunications Act of 1996.

"As far as we know, this is the only viable, feasible site under the Telecommunications Act for this tower," said Angley.

Abutter Jack Hillier of 10 Jane Lane was concerned about lighting and the noise created by generators installed by carrier companies.

Delaney said that most generators run quietly and tend to run test programs during afternoons so as to not disturb abutters. He also said that matter could be brought up at a later time once it was known what the individual carriers were planning on installing at the compound.

Hillier took it upon himself to visit other tower sites installed by the company and presented photos of those areas to the ZBA, including a junkyard that bears a tower built by the company.

He was also concerned about the possible health concerns related to the content of required signage posted on other tower sites, declaring the existence of certain kinds of radiation. Hillier was also worried about the possible negative hit to property values if the tower is constructed.

"This has no place in a residential area," he said.

Brad Hathaway echoed Hillier's comment on property values and said that the overlay district was implemented to avoid this kind of situation.

"The people were adamant that a tower not be built in a residential area. This is why we have overlay areas for cellular phone towers outside of residential areas," said Hathaway. "We made an attempt in this town to forestall any problem like the Fairhaven [wind turbines] and the Dartmouth [solar panel array.] To put an industrial facility in a residential area is far worse than putting a business there. What does this do to the value of the homes along Jane Lane? Is there any consideration for reimbursement of the value for these people?"

Hathaway suggested the field near Old Rochester Regional that was once considered for a wind tower would be a better area for the cell tower.

Delaney said that they had performed studies on the frequency radiation surrounding cell phone towers and that there was no evidence that any negative health effects result from living near such structures.

Angley added that, to his knowledge, property values aren't affected negatively by the existence of a nearby cell tower.

Other residents were worried about the integrity of the project if major parts of town won't see improved mobile phone coverage.

"Areas that have significant numbers of homes won't be covered," said resident Paul Osenkowski. He was concerned that emergency services would have communications issues.

Delaney explained that the UHF radio system used by the police department operates on a lower frequency that propagates out further than most cell signals, so the police would not have signal blackouts in the spotty coverage areas.

Some residents questioned the necessity to put the tower in a residential area 300 feet from local homes.

While there were those questioning the need for the tower, other residents voiced their support for the project, citing their own need for better service and the security that the tower can afford their neighborhoods.

"Times have changed and the need for this cell service around our town is very badly needed. I would urge you to vote in favor of it," said resident Bill Cantor of Prospect Road, who currently does not have reliable mobile phone service at his home.

The ZBA felt that most of their questions had been adequately addressed during the hearing and voted 3 – 1 in favor of the proposal.

In other business, the ZBA issued the following decisions:

Project Grow Policy Sparks Discussion

ORR Joint School Committee

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

Whether the towns of Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester should reimburse each other when a student takes a space in another Tri-Town Project Grow classroom was one of the topics of discussion at the ORR Joint School Committee on Thursday, January 17.

Since the 1980s, the three towns have shared a joint grant to help fund Project Grow, which services children age three to four.

The program's intent is to mix special needs children with those without special needs to create a healthy interaction of youngsters. Of the 15 slots in each classroom, generally, seven are for students with an Independent Educational Plan (IEP) and eight are for students without. Students with IEPs do not pay tuition, while those without do pay.

Currently, if all slots are filled in Mattapoisett and a child from Mattapoisett enrolls in the program, the child can fill an empty slot in Marion or Rochester. The Committee discussed this transfer of one student to another town's classroom, which occurs without any tuition payment involved in the transaction.

Several Committee members, including Jay Pateakos and Christine Winters of the Marion School Committee, wanted the Joint Committee to think about and discuss whether taxpayer money in each town was being spent educating and providing special needs services to a student who didn't reside in the town.

Terri Hamm, Director of Special Services for the district, spoke and said that the three towns don't know who will enroll and what the needs might be each year, but the current arrangement seemed to be working, with the goal of having the child gain access to the services they need, such as speech therapy and other needs to help them succeed in the classroom in the future.

Originally, Project Grow had one location, but as the towns grew, each created a classroom. The Committee, after much discussion, agreed to keep the current practices in force and to send the question to the Policy Committee for comment and recommendation on the reimbursement issue.

In other business, the Committee heard about Governor Deval Patrick's plan to increase spending per pupil by $25 in the 2013 budget. Regional transit costs along with special education are to be protected by the proposed budget released by Patrick.

The state also proposes to enforce Criminal Offender Record Information (CORI) checks and fingerprinting for every school employee who is with children. The question was whether the cost was to be paid out of district funds and who would do the work.

"In New Hampshire, the local police department handled the CORI check and the fingerprinting," said Superintendent Douglas White.

The 2013-2014 school calendar was voted upon and approved, with a opening day of August 27, 2013 and an end-of-school date, depending on snow day extensions, of June 13, 2014.

A discussion followed regarding the district policy manual, which is now on paper and receives paper updates that school employees must update on a regular basis. White recommended that the district consider using the Massachusetts Association of School Committees (MASC) to handle the revision and updates digitally, with all employees and the public having access to the policies.

"The current paper system is this high," said White, holding his hands up to show a massive paper stack.

The cost to have MASC handle and update the manual would be $1,500 the first year, $3,500 the second year, $3,500 the third year and after that, an annual 'hosting' fee of $950 per year. The Committee discussed the options and agreed that bringing the district up-to-date in compliance and having regular reviews would be worth the time and effort now spent with paper updates.

"I believe it would put us in good stead to be in compliance and offer access to the public, administration and teachers," said White.

Committee member Charles Motta suggested putting the job out to bid with teaching colleges. The Committee agreed to discuss the issue at the next meeting.

Finally, the Committee discussed changes to the Field Trip policy and proposed a draft and asked members to comment. Changes to the policy included that siblings not enrolled in the class participating in the field trip will not be allowed to attend, for liability reasons.

ORR Expands Diversity Education

By Eric Tripoli

Some say the world is getting smaller thanks to the abundance of digital technology that brings together the corners of the world at the push of a button. Others say the world is getting bigger as it is easier than ever before to communicate with more people; our understanding of the world is ever expanding.

This presents an exciting challenge to educators who are looking to advance diversity curriculum for their students. Over the last few months, curriculum administrators have been working to revamp the English language arts programs in an effort to include newer and less traditional tools that speak to the experience and interests of students while continuing to open their minds about the world around them.

"Part of what we're doing now is taking famous historical speeches and documents and examining them from a variety of perspectives," said Dr. Elise Frangos, Assistant Superintendent and Director of Curriculum and Instruction for the ORR district.

She has been working with almost 20 educators from all grade levels and schools in the district to redesign much of the ELA curriculum, from reading different books, employing new teaching techniques and taking advantage of technology.

In the case of studying historical speeches, that includes using tools from textbooks to YouTube.

"Our teachers have access on the network to YouTube. What they are able to do is show their students how some of the great speeches of the world have been delivered," she said. These include, of course, "I Have A Dream," by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., whose birthday observance was just celebrated here in the United States.

"They're looking not just at the syntax of his language or the beauty of his language, but they're looking at the historical context and asking why," said Frangos.

They are also learning to break down the content of these documents via the three branches of rhetorical analysis: ethos (ethics behind the statements), logos (the logic used to derive those statements), and pathos (the emotion connected to the meaning of the statements.)

"So they are asking questions like, 'what is this document, what is its purpose?'" she said.

ORR is further expanding diversity education by incorporating more reading by a wider swath of authors from a broader demographic of people.

"We are bringing representative works from a number of different groups that perhaps have not had great representation [previously in the curriculum]," said Frangos.

Included in the new reading requirements is The Breadwinner trilogy, geared for younger readers, which tells the story of Parvana, an 11-year-old Afghani girl living under the rule of the Taliban. After her father is arrested for receiving an education in a foreign country, Parvana must transform herself into a boy in order to work and earn money for her struggling family.

"Our use of literature and non-fiction will help them understand the lives of others and take the perspectives of others."

While the subject matter may be considered mature, the context of the story is prescient for much of today's geo-political discourse. The books offer young readers a window into a world that stands in stark contrast to our own, which is vital in developing critical thinking skills in students.

"What we're trying to do is go deeper and give kids transferrable skills so whatever they read, the reading or literature becomes a transport system."

In addition to the new literature, teachers are encouraged to find ways that take advantage of the Internet and how it can bring distant classrooms together. Last year, second grade teacher Joyce Borden used an educational network to do a videoconference between her students and children in California and China.

ORR students are also encouraged to work more in small groups in an effort to allow everybody opportunities for leadership.

Halfway Mark To-Dos

ORR School Update

By Jessica Correia

With students and teachers settling in to the new rules set in place after winter break, the slew of complaints and attempted debates from students towards teachers have made way for quiet grumbling and preparing for the end of the term. Grades close officially on the January 25. All make-up work should be passed in over the course of the week. Midterms will be at the teachers' discretion. Finals for half-year classes will also be at teacher's discretion. Seniors with an A average will be exempt from finals in their half-year classes.

Seniors applying to college should be bringing in copies of any official letters from college, including acceptance letters, deferment letters, admissions denial letters or scholarships directly from the colleges. The copies of the letters should be given to Mrs. Bertrand in the guidance office. For any questions about scholarships, you should see your guidance counselor.

Also on the senior to-do list should be buying your yearbooks. $75 must be paid by January 31 with the order forms and passed in to the main office or the yearbook committee. For extra order forms, go to Mrs. Blake or any of the yearbook committee members.

Juniors on the college track who are looking to get a head start can begin by looking into the SATs and going on college visits. Guidance has a list of the upcoming SAT testing dates. The list can also be found online on the College Board website. The College Board website is also where you can sign up for the SATs. Should you be interested in taking the ACTs, you should ask the guidance office about testing dates and centers or look online on the ACT website.

For all students, sign-ups for the talent show end this week. Practices or run-throughs for the show will be held during the week of the show and will be clarified

Week of Successes for Track Teams

ORR Sports Update

By Michael Kassabian

The state-level Division 4 Relays prove a lot about a track team; they show the team's talent in individuals and in their overall depth, as each relay team is compromised of three or four athletes. The Old Rochester boys' and girls' teams each proved that they possess both, as the girls won the meet and the boys came second in the overall standings.

The girls' team, which won with 35 points, was led by strong performances in the shuttle hurdles and the 4x200 meter relay. The shuttle hurdle team, made up of Kristen Fuller, Meagan Bell, Paige Santos and Ally Saccone, won the event with a school record time of 30.18 seconds. Santos and Saccone teamed up with Hannah Walsh and Morgan DaSilva to once again take the 4x200 relay in a dominant time of 1:49.6. Santos also led the girls to a third place finish in the high-jump relay, along with freshmen Zoe Smith and Elexus Alfonso.

Going into the final event, the 4x400 meter relay, it looked as if the boys' team would win the overall meet, as their closest competitor, Weston High School, didn't have a relay team. However, the results of the long jump relay came out right before the start of the race, and Weston, having placed second, slipped by ORR in the standings by 2.4 points.

Regardless, the boys had excellent performances. Nick Mathieu, Kevin Noone, Richie Phillips and Dan Donahue won the 4x200 meter relay with an excellent time of 1:36.58, thanks to a phenomenal anchor leg by Donahue, who passed two teams to take the win. The boys also placed second in the 4x800 meter relay with a time of 8:28.53, thanks to the efforts of Nick Pacheco, Mike Wyman, Connor Medeiros-Sweet and Fred Murolo. Murolo, Wyman and Pacheco returned with Noone to take third in the distance medley with a time of 11:09.72.

The relays helped to prove that both track teams have the potential to not only win the SCC, but also possibly win states at the conclusion of the season.

The basketball team had an up-and-down week. Last Tuesday, the boys lost to GNB Voc-Tech, 75 – 58. Only five players scored for the boys; Jeremy Bare (25 points), Raekwon Phillips (12 points), Mikey Pruchnik (13 points), Hayden Bergeron (4 points) and sophomore Jordan Menard (4 points), who scored his first career varsity baskets.

The boys came back from their disappointing loss on Tuesday to win against the Apponequet Lakers, a team that had beaten them previously in the season. With two minutes left, the Bulldogs were up by only four points, but they managed to fend off the persistent Lakers thanks to strong performances by Bare and Bergeron. Bergeron's biggest play came after Bare missed two free throws with 13 seconds left. The junior fought for the rebound and put it back up to extend the lead to an unreachable 5 points.

The final score of the game was 49 – 43. The win puts the Bulldogs at a 3 – 7 overall record.

Lady Bulldogs Continue Undefeated Conference Streak

The Lady Bulldogs defeated the Lakers with a final score of 33-28.

"Tonight, Katie saved our bacon with her scoring. There's no doubt about that," said ORR Head Coach Bob Hohne. "She's one of the senior captains and she definitely brings leadership to the team."

The Lady Bulldogs got off to a slow start in the first quarter, as they only put up nine points. Seven of those points came from Wilbur. The team struggled with travels and offensive fouls. Senior Guard Hannah Bouvette drew three fouls in the first quarter and was taken out of the game as a result. At the end of the first, ORR led by a narrow margin of 9-5.

"I think their aggressiveness disturbed the flow of our offense," said Hohne. "They were very physical."

ORR settled down in the second quarter and started shooting from the perimeter. Wilbur netted two three-point shots. The defense also stepped up, as freshman Gabbie Reuter provided a key block in Lakers territory.

Despite starting the quarter off on a better foot, the Lakers outscored ORR 13-8 in the second quarter. A 3-point play from Jade Rodrigues gave the Lakers some momentum on their offense. At the half, the Lakers led 18-17.

In the third quarter, both teams had shifts in momentum. Apponequet extended their lead to 23-20, but an offensive run, two free throws and a three-pointer from Wilbur regained a 26-23 lead for ORR at the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, the momentum shifts remained the same. Intensity and aggressiveness picked up as Bouvette fouled out for ORR and Katherine Simonsen did as well for the Lakers.

With less than a minute to go, Wilbur had a clutch steal ultimately leading her to be followed. After making her free throw, ORR was able to put up two more points for a little insurance, giving them the 33-28 win. While the game might not have been the prettiest of the season, Hohne was still pleased with the victory.

"I thought we could have played better defense and that we didn't contain enough," he said. "But I think our success starts with our two senior captains, Katie and Abby (Offringa). They get us into our offense. You also have the two big girls (Haley Dickerson and Reuter) that work well with the two guards."

Apparently the boars are creating quite a nuisance as they have begun to migrate northward over the years. Jim will not be involved in the current "Python Hunt," which would have been quite current, but he says he doesn't do snakes!

Callers are asked to bear in mind the importance of call list accuracy. Please report your lists not later than 9:00 pm on February 4 by calling 508-758-9311 or email gpfmr@aol.com. ### Mattapoisett Land Trust to Honor Volunteers

One of the Mattapoisett Land Trust's greatest and most appreciated assets is its band of enthusiastic volunteers. Members of our community help out in many ways, from staffing our booth at Harbor Days to assisting in cleanups and general maintenance. It is this background activity, probably invisible to many, that keeps protected lands open and available for both the members and the public at large. The MLT would like to invite its members and the public to join together for a convivial evening honoring these volunteers.

We will gather on Saturday, February 9 from 6:00 to 8:30 pm in Reynard Hall of the Mattapoisett Congregational Church, 27 Church Street. A light meal and refreshments will be served, including potluck blueberry desserts produced by the directors. The Mike Bliss Quartet from Old Rochester Regional High School will provide entertainment. A donation of $15 per person is suggested.

To make a reservation or for more information, you can contact the Land Trust by email at info@mattlandtrust.org or by calling 774-377-9191 and leaving a message.

Mattapoisett Lions Club Eyeglass Collection

In just about any dresser drawer, one can find a pair of eyeglasses that are no longer being used. That same pair of eyeglasses can change another person's life.

That's why we started the Lions Recycle for Sight program. Everyone can help. Throughout the year, Lions, Leos and other volunteers collect used eyeglasses and deliver them to Regional Lions Eyeglass Recycling Centers. Volunteers clean, sort by prescription strength and package the glasses. Most of the recycled glasses are distributed to people in need in developing countries where they will have the greatest impact.

If you have used eyeglasses you no longer need, you can donate them now. Lions accept prescription and reading glasses, sunglasses and plastic and metal frames. Children's glasses are especially needed.

Eyeglass collection boxes are located at the Laundromat, Town Hall, Library, Mattapoisett Council on Aging office and the Marion Council on Aging office.

To find out more about the Mattapoisett Lions Club and how we serve the community, visit our website www.mattapoisettlionsclub.org or visit our Facebook page.

Gateway Youth Hockey Weekend Recap

• Mites 1: The Mites 1 team stunned the previously undefeated Lower Cape 2 team on Saturday by beating them 4-1 in Orleans. The Gateway team jumped out to an early lead with three quick goals in the first period. Both teams then scored in the second period. The Mites 1 team's skating speed paid off well in this game and their on-the-mark passes led to many assists in the goal scoring. All in all, this was a team effort and a team win!

• Squirts 1: The Gateway Ice Wolves played three games this weekend and came away with wins in all three. On Saturday, the Ice Wolves traveled to Rockland to take on the GYH Ireland team and beat them while only having eight players. The final score was 8–2 and Julia Elicier led the charge with a goal and four assists. Also scoring were Tyler Lovendale with four goals and two assists, while Quirino doCanto added three goals and five assists. Chris Gauvin stepped in and earned the win in net. The win moved the Ice Wolves to 21–0 in the Yankee Conference.

On Sunday, the Ice Wolves played a double header at home against Martha's Vineyard and gave their fans two amazing games to watch. In the first game, Alex DeMarco came up with some great saves, limiting MV to one goal. Chris Gauvin and Quirino doCanto had the goals while Tyler Lovendale assisted on both goals, securing the 2–1 win.

In the second game, the Ice Wolves battled adversity and came away with a 3–2 victory. Scoring in the game were Tyler Lovendale with two goals and Chris Gauvin with one. Quirino doCanto assisted on all three goals.

- Squirts 2: The Gateway Squirr Sharks team had two wins and one loss to advance them into the championship round of the Falmouth Clipper Classic Hockey Tournament, which will be played on Monday, January 21. Gateway played two games on Saturday and the first game was a solid win against the Falmouth Squirt C team with a score of 2–0, earning another shut out for goalie Alex DeMarco. The goals were by Ben Demoranville, assisted by Stephen Old, and by MacKenzie Hennessey (her first of the season), assisted by R.J. Vickery.

The second game against the Warwick Waves was a much more difficult game. Gateway ended up playing short-handed due to illness and played hard, but could not pull out a win. In the third and final round Sunday, Gateway rallied together for a decisive win against the Walpole Squirt C team 4–1. A goal by Jack Martins, assisted by Thomas Gallavotti, got us on the board early; an unassisted goal by Johnny Rodrigues and a second goal by Jack Martins, assisted by Shannon Breault, sealed the deal. However, the fourth and final goal was an amazing shot by Ben Demoranville who managed to get his own rebound and netted a tough-angle, top-shelf shot while being knocked to the ice.

The Sharks then made it to the Championship game of the Winter Clipper Classic Tournament in Falmouth on Monday. Gateway ended up facing the Warwick Waves in the Championship game and the Sharks played some of their best hockey of the season. The Sharks got on the board quickly in the first period with Johnny Rodrigues scoring 20 seconds in off of an assist by Ben Demornaville. Gateway was able to hold that one goal lead into the third period when Warwick tied the game halfway through the period and then followed it up with the game-winning goal with just 41 seconds on the clock. Gateway pulled their goalie to get a sixth skater on the ice for those final seconds and put immense pressure on the Warwick goaltender, but was not able to net the goal needed to send the game into overtime; a 2-1 loss and second place overall in the tournament.

- Bantams: The Gateway Bantam team faced off against the Pembroke Titans this past weekend at Hobomock Arena. In the first period, Gateway opened the scoring with Brady Smith scoring on a breakaway assisted by Alex Atkinson. In the second period, Mike Houdlette poked one through with a pass from Sean Kelso. Houdlette later in the period tucked in another goal assisted by Will Paling. Then, to end the period, Alex Atkinson scored to make it 4-0. When play resumed in the third period, Mike Houdlette struck again to finish his Hat Trick goal including a hat from one of the fans from the stands. With three minutes left in the game, the Titans found the back of the net to make it 5-1. As the final buzzer sounds, it is official that the Bantams extend their winning streak to nine games and clinch third place in the league. The team's last loss was November 23.

Bridging Racial Divides

It was the early 1960s and the Civil Rights movement in the United States was in a state of fiery turmoil. Protests, marches, sit-ins and riots were commonplace on TV and in the newspapers. At times, people questioned whether or not black and white Americans could live peacefully with one another or if this social struggle would lead to the demise of modern civility. The faces of people like Rosa Parks and the words of people like Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

stood to define an era marred by racial hostility and the civil war for civil rights.

The desegregation of American schools proved to be one of the most divisive of practices in many parts of the United States. While the resistance to desegregation by American southerners is well-known, New England was not immune to the racial tension, especially the Boston area.

In the early 1970s, forced busing sparked outrage in many communities, including Jamaica Plain, a city located between Roxbury and Dorchester. At the time, ORR's own assistant superintendent and director of curriculum and instruction, Dr. Elise Frangos, was an English teacher at Jamaica Plain High School.

Frangos had a double-major of English and journalism at Simmons College in Boston and had recently transitioned from being a reporter to an educator. She taught Irish and African-American history at a school that had been predominantly black but now

had an equal number of white students in the classroom.

"Irish kids in Boston had been segregated from the African-American kids for so long. Both groups didn't really understand their cultures or the arduous experiences both groups went through," said Frangos.

Her teaching position was made possible by a grant from the Martin Luther King, Jr. Society and the Irish Consulate.

"The goal was, in having a class that was fifty-fifty, can we understand each other? What are our similarities and our differences?" she said.

Though there was always the shadowy threat of violence in the air, Frangos didn't allow the tension to make her fear for her own safety. She kept her eye on teaching, the truest manifestation of her passion for social justice and learning.

"Anyone who goes into teaching has to put safety of the kids first. First you think of the emotional and physical safety of the kids. You just have to. Especially when you're in your 20s, you don't tend to think about your own personal situation."

In her time teaching at Jamaica Plain High School, Frangos helped many students come to appreciate the challenging histories written for both African-Americans and Irish-Americans. In many cases, her students came to appreciate their differences, rather than be divided because of them.

"I think a lot of friendships were forged by understanding the curriculum and content," she said. "There's nothing like having that grounded reality of working with children, working with their families. I think that's the most honorable work. If I can influence that in a positive way, that's what I'm hoping for."

Above: Have you been driving around the Tri-Town noticing a greater prevalence of lawn flamingos? Don't be alarmed! The plastic lawn ornaments are the Old Rochester Regional High School Cheerleaders' latest and most creative fundraiser. For $25, residents can have a friend's house decorated, or "flocked" with lawn flamingos. All money collected through the flocking will be used to send the squad to Walt Disney World in February. A pregnant woman who was told her sciatica "would only get worse" as her pregnancy progressed found comfort through chiropractic care.

After years of visits to specialists, MRI's, and prescriptions, a teenager gets relief from chronic migraines through chiropractic adjustments.

A colicky infant now sleeps peacefully – as does the rest of her family!

The world is no longer spinning for a man who has had vertigo since crashing his bike.

A woman who was told she would need carpal tunnel surgery had her hand pain disappear in two weeks.

A nurse with months of acute low back pain found relief.

A breech baby turned just in time for his mother to have the natural childbirth she wanted.

Families stayed healthy through the winter with regular chiropractic care.

A visiting golfer with neck pain was able to enjoy his vacation in the area, and play the courses he planned.

A baby with difficulty nursing was able to immediately after his first adjustment.

An elementary school student can now go to sleepovers because he is no longer wetting the bed.

Twins diagnosed with acid reflux are now off all medications and enjoying all kinds of food.

An elderly neighbor with low back pain, who had been told she would just have to "live with it" "because that's part of getting old" is now active again and pain free.

Why did all of these different things happen to real people while under care at Marion Family Chiropractic?

A specific chiropractic adjustment opens the path from your brain to your body, so you live the way you should.

MOVIE REVIEW

Most Wanted

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

Kathryn Bigelow has directed excellent movies before, but Zero Dark Thirty deserves to be remembered as the film that established her as a master, worthy of inclusion in the ranks of the great filmmakers. Zero Dark Thirty runs two hours and thirty-seven minutes, and there is not one inessential moment in it, not one inelegant shot. It goes forward at a steady, easy pace, trusting us to keep up, spanning eight years of the manhunt for Osama bin Laden without losing a step. It also spends roughly its first hour focusing on squalid failure — the efforts on the CIA's part to torture information out of detainees. The torture doesn't work; it doesn't lead to any intel that stops numerous subsequent attacks or that leads to bin Laden. People who claim the movie is pro-torture must have wandered into a different theater, or gone into the film determined to find justifications where there are none. In the actual film that I saw, the CIA gets nowhere until they stop torturing detainees.

But enough of that. The movie, written by Mark Boal (Bigelow's collaborator on The Hurt Locker) based on his interviews with many figures involved in the manhunt, is structured almost like a police procedural: We know whodunit, but how can we find him? A lot of the film is talking heads in offices, but Bigelow keeps the scenes tight and urgent. The protagonist, the fictionalized Maya (Jessica Chastain), has worked for the CIA since the ink was barely dry on her high-school diploma. Bin Laden becomes her white whale, though we're given no evidence of any personal injury done to her by al-Qaeda; we also avoid the usual dull scenes where Maya has to balance her job and some relationship. She is defined entirely by her obsession, her determination, and her intelligence. Maya appears before us as the sort of literary blank slate we can project ourselves onto. We share her frustration; we share her revulsion at the torture performed by her CIA associate (Jason Clarke), who otherwise seems an amiable sort (he eventually opts for a desk job, yearning for something "normal").

Other than some truly shocking moments of terrorism here and there, and the nail-biting raid on bin Laden's compound, Zero Dark Thirty is not an action film, yet Bigelow and Boal let their characters reveal themselves through action, or action not taken, or action expressed as decision. Maya herself is not going to the Abbottabad compound to plug bin Laden in the head personally, but sending Navy SEALs in to take him out is still her responsibility ("Bin Laden is there," she tells one of the soldiers, "and you're going to kill him for me"). There's a great deal of strategy, digital espionage, even bribery. Like Zodiac, the movie feels like a thick book packed with fascinating data and anecdotes, though getting too hung up on what's literally true on the screen is pointless. It's still a movie.

Maya is a tough cookie, but by casting the pale, red-haired, rather fragile-looking Jessica Chastain, Bigelow makes the unstressed point that not all strong women are built like Lucy Lawless; they come in deceptively frail packages, too, and Chastain seems almost recessive at times, but then, at a moment of high frustration, her Maya lets fly with a volley of vituperation at a stonewalling higher-up. She may look waifish but you don't want to get in her way. The men around her, and some of the women, are nonplussed by Maya's absolute certainty that she's right. Unlike the male bureaucrats surrounding her, she doesn't worry about covering her ass. She's a hero, but Bigelow and Chastain also establish that Maya's very certainty in this murky moral universe is a little inhuman. Battle not with monsters, as they say.

Zero Dark Thirty doesn't stand to the side and say "Torture is bad." It assumes we know that, and it suggests that even if torture worked perfectly it would — or should — still weigh heavily on the American soul. In the climactic raid, we see men and women, bin Laden's accomplices in hiding him — willingly or unwillingly, who can say? — shot down in front of their shrieking children. It's ugly stuff, and those who want to see bin Laden ventilated in full gory Django Unchained retributive glory will be disappointed — it happens mainly offscreen. A key theme in Bigelow's work has always been the ambiguities attached to violence and the mechanisms, psychological or artificial, people use to distance themselves from the hurt they're causing. In that respect, Zero Dark Thirty feels like Bigelow's magnum opus, the big one she's been working towards for the last three decades. It links nicely with her previous films, like Hurt Locker, of course, but also the dystopian sci-fi thriller Strange Days and even Blue Steel, a cop movie about a woman trying to bring a psychopath to justice. Here she has delivered an epic that is thoughtful but isn't sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought; it is robust, physically exact — it hums with the special electricity of smart people doing what they do best, although doing their best often leads to failure anyway. Not in Bigelow's case, though.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Guess what, Lamb? You're about to experience a new perspective on a situation you long regarded quite differently. What you learn could open more opportunities later.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The Bold Bovine is tempted to charge into a new venture. But it might be best to take things one step at a time, so that you know just where you are at any given point.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's a good time to go on that fun getaway you've been planning. You'll return refreshed, ready and, yes, even eager to tackle the new challenge that awaits you.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The Moon Child loves to fantasize about magical happenings in the early part of the week. But the sensible Crab gets down to serious business by week's end.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) What goes around comes around for those lucky Leos and Leonas whose acts of generosity could be repaid with opportunities to expand into new and exciting areas of interest.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your concern about your job responsibilities is commendable. But you need to take some quiet time to share with someone who has really missed being with you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Aspects favor getting out and meeting new people. And as a bonus, you might find that some of your newly made friends could offer important business contacts.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You might take pride in wanting to do everything yourself. But now's a good time to ask family members to help with a demanding personal situation.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Pay more attention to the possibilities in that workplace change. It could show the way to make that long-sought turn on your career path.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your need to succeed might overwhelm obligations to your loved ones. Ease up on that workload and into some well-deserved time with family and friends.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Love rules for amorous Aquarians who can make good use of their ability to communicate feelings. Don't be surprised if they're reciprocated in kind.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Fishing for compliments? No doubt, you probably earned them. But it's best to let others believe they were the ones who uncovered the treasure you really are.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your good works flow from an open, generous heart. Nothing makes you happier than to see others happy as well.

pm at St. Gabriel's Episcopal Church, 124 Front Street in Marion. The "informance" is an informal performance in which the chorus demonstrates aspects of their rehearsal process — from beginning to learn a song, through the polishing phase, and on to complete performance. The Chorus will sing songs from their repertoire, demonstrate rehearsal techniques, entertain questions from the audience and encourage the audience to join them in a song or two!

The SouthCoast Children's Chorus is a 65-voice regional chorus in two distinct levels with singers from Marion, Mattapoisett, Rochester, Fairhaven, Dartmouth, New Bedford, Westport, Chatham and Cuttyhunk Island, and is directed by Leslie Piper and accompanied by Joyce Jacobsen.

Admission is free, but a suggested donation of $5 per person ($10 maximum per family) will be gratefully accepted at the door. A portion of the proceeds from this performance will be used to support the Touring Chorus' trip to Chicago in May to take part in a Children's Choral festival. For more information, please contact Director Leslie Piper at lesliepiper@msn.com.

The club funds approximately $3,000 annually, divided among several nonprofits in the South Coast area for projects promoting civic beautification, conservation, garden scholarship and sustainable agriculture.

at the library during the week of April 23 to 27. Four awards will be given, one for each grade. The awards will be placed on the books similar to a Caldecott award. The awards will only be placed on copies of the books belonging to the Mattapoisett Library. This award is being done only at our library and is not part of a national program or the SAILS Library Network. We are offering it as a winter reading program to the local children. This is the second year we are holding the award/program and it is only being offered to grades 3 – 6.

The flyers will be sent home with students at Center School and Old Hammondtown on or around January 3. The students are strongly encouraged to attend the Kick-Off Party to register; however, we will allow students to register at the children's circulation desk through January 19.

The winners will be announced on Tuesday, April 30 at 5:30 pm at the library at a pizza party. All participants in the program will be invited to attend.

Any child who reads at least 5 nominees will be invited to a "sleepover" in the library called "Quahog Night." We will hold a sleepover for the boys on Friday, May 3 and a sleepover for the girls on Friday, May 10. The sleepovers will be from 7:00 pm to 7:00 am. There will be snacks, games, movies and crafts offered. Chaperones will, of course, be present.

PEARLS BEFORE SWINE by Stephan Pastis

Symphony Orchestra will present Franz Joseph Haydn's masterpiece, "The Creation," at 8:00 pm in the Zeiterion Performing Arts Center. The NBSO, performing under the direction of Dr. David MacKenzie, will be joined by the Providence Singers, led by Artistic Director Betsy Burleigh, and soloists Teresa Wakim, soprano, Matthew Anderson, tenor, and Paul Guttry, bass.

Haydn was a deeply religious man and his sacred oratorio "The Creation" is perhaps his greatest legacy to music history. Inspired by the grand sound of Handel's oratorios, Haydn devoted himself to writing "The Creation" for nearly two years. The three parts of the oratorio depict the six days of creation through the first happy hours of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden; the three soloists narrate the story as the angels Gabriel, Uriel and Raphael. The Creation is Haydn at his freest, most joyous and most mature.

Completed in 1797 when Haydn was at the height of his powers, "Die Schöpfung" ("The Creation") was written for symphony orchestra, vocal soloists and chorus. The first performance in Vienna in April of 1798, conducted by Haydn himself, was by invitation only but was so highly anticipated that a massive crowd gathered in the streets hoping to gain entrance and the police were called in to keep order.

You deserve a symphony in your life! For ticket prices, subscription offers and upcoming concerts and events, please visit www.nbsymphony.org or call the NBSO office at 508-999-6276. Subscriptions are still available for the 2012-2013 season; new subscribers receive a 50 percent discount. The NBSO is a professional orchestra performing a seven-concert series of classical and pop music annually. The Symphony regularly performs with prize-winning guests artists from around the world. The NBSO is dedicated to building a community of music in the South Coast, celebrating music and music-making and collaborating with other music groups and cultural and educational organizations. The NBSO's numerous educational programs include Music in the Morning, SchoolsMusic!, Young People's Concerts, Family Musical Connections, New Bedford Symphony Youth Orchestras, School String Program, Master Classes, Symphony Tales and Be Our Musical Guest. ## I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes! Each time you find the Aardvark you will also be entered in our monthly drawing for other cool Aardvark Prizes. If you would like to enter the monthly drawing by mail, send your name, address and phone number along with the issue date and page number you found him in to: Wanderer - I Found the Aardvark, P.O. Box 102, Mattapoisett, MA 02739. Entries by mail will not be eligible for Aardvark Points.

To enter visit: www.wanderer.com and Click on I Found the Aardvark
In the January 17, 2013 issue the Aardvark was on page 47!
